

COMING SOON (Parody of "Wake Me Up When September Ends" by Green Day)

The Lord sent us here and now
To love our neighbor, cry aloud
To warn you all the Lord is coming soon

Your pastors and priests are blind
You wonder why we hold these signs
To warn you all the Lord is coming soon

You hate your children
You taught them God's a liar
You broke their moral compasses
You passed them through the fire

Turn ye, from your evil ways
Stop your sinning, just obey
We warn you all the Lord is coming soon

The Lord sent us here and now
To love our neighbor, cry aloud
To warn you all the Lord is coming soon

God's the potter, we're the clay
Our job is to obey today
We warn you all the Lord is coming soon

Here comes His church again
Her words are bold and clear
Our duty is to warn you all
And that is why we're here

Divorce, abortion, idolatry
He'll laugh at your calamity, so
We warn you all the Lord is coming soon

We're so thankful for our lots
To help you all connect the dots
To warn you all the Lord is coming soon

The Lord sent us here and now
To love our neighbor, cry aloud
To warn you all the Lord is coming soon
Enter in, while there is still room
We warn you all the Lord is coming soon
